Today's HR leaders need to move beyond a soft HR agenda to help their business create sustainable competitive advantage. This means not only becoming more effective and efficient in the ways they work, but also understanding the impact of everything they do on the business.

Mergers and Acquisitions

Technology to assist in M&A activity is becoming the essential solution to an increasingly frequent form of business growth. Improve success and speed of deployment through organizational modelling and visualization of data, all within one solution.

Diversity and Inclusion

Understand and proactively plan your diversity and inclusion initiatives with a technology solution using your current organization data. True diversity and organizational equality in your business can increase overall company performance and ultimately, the bottom line.

Reduction in Force

Maintain a clear picture of your organization in a single solution to track KPIs and understand the impact of proposed changes. Speed and accuracy of execution can make or break a reduction in force.

Workforce Realignment

Stay informed and aligned with all stakeholders during any workforce realignment to deliver on high ROI expectations. Maintain visibility of how proposed changes impact the business to track execution against business strategy.

Discover how to plan the organization of the future through organizational design and modelling, and accelerate your organizational transformation.

“After spending time investigating multiple solution options and discovering none met our needs without customization, a colleague suggested we look at Nakisa. Nakisa Hanelly gives us the advanced organizational charts we need, fully integrated to and complimentary of our HCM solution, and with great visualization out of the box. In short, exactly what we needed.”

Jeffrey Boyd, GM-Global Talent Management

“Even as we go through a rapid growth period, Hanelly was able to fully integrate to our ERP system in real-time and handle our ongoing transformation needs in it's stride. An unexpected benefit as we started using Hanelly, was the ability to identify data quality issues in our ERP, something we had no visibility of previously.”

Arief Setiawan, HR Division Head at Sinar Mas
